WINTER WILDLAND PROMISES TREATS FOR THE ANIMALS AND FUN FOR PEOPLE AT NORTHWEST TREK WILDLIFE PARK DURING WINTER BREAK

Annual event Dec. 29 and 30 is the perfect way to end the year with nature

Eatonville, Wash. - People aren't the only ones to receive holiday gifts at this time of year. Northwest Trek Wildlife Park's creative keeper staff is as busy as Santa's elves, creating special treats for the resident animals.

And it will be a most wonderful time for all at Winter Wildland on Dec. 29 and 30.

The animals will receive their holiday gifts in the form of interesting things to eat and enrichment items that stimulate their senses and heighten their activity levels.

And for people, the real fun is in taking a Winter Break – whether from school or work – with family and friends, spending the day in nature and seeing native Northwest animals enjoy those unique treats like evergreens decorated with tasty edibles, popsicles and more.

Here's a schedule of animal enrichments during the two days of Winter Wildland.

Saturday, Dec. 29

- 11:30 a.m. Badgers
- 1 p.m. Bear enrichment, or keeper talk on hibernation/torpor
- 2 p.m. Cougar
- 2:30 p.m. Porcupines

Sunday, Dec. 30

- 11:30 a.m. Skunk
- 1 p.m. Bear enrichment, or keeper talk on hibernation/torpor
- 2 p.m. Wolves
- 2:30 p.m. Raccoons

Plus every entry to the wildlife park also comes with a 40-minute trip aboard a heated tram through the 435-acre Free-Roaming Area, which is home to bison, Roosevelt elk, bighorn sheep, deer and six moose.

And - weather permitting - children from toddlers through tweens can burn off that holiday energy in the Kids' Trek nature-inspired play area.

All activities are free with membership or paid admission to Northwest Trek.

Northwest Trek will have special Winter Break hours from Dec. 26 through Jan. 1. The wildlife park's admission booths will be open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. during that period, with the last tram leaving its station each day at 3. Visitors have until 4:30 p.m. to enjoy the many animal exhibits as well as Kids' Trek.
